Stephen McDowell is co-founder and President of the Providence Foundation, a nonprofit Christian educational organization. He holds a B.S. Degree in physics from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and an M.S. Degree in geology at the University of Memphis. Ordained in 1978, he served as a pastor until 1984 when he assisted in establishing the Providence Foundation, and since then has served as its President.

McDowell is the editor of the Providential Perspective and has authored or co-authored a dozen books, videos, and training courses. He travels globally and has consulted with numerous government officials, assisted in writing political documents, aided in establishing political parties, and helped start a number of Christian schools.

McDowell has been an Adjunct Professor at Regent University and serves on the boards of numerous organizations. He has written scores of published articles and appeared on numerous TV and radio programs. He also periodically does historic portrayals of Thomas Jefferson. He and his wife Beth live in Charlottesville, Virginia, and have four children.

A former business owner, Dennis Peacocke is the founder and president of Strategic Christian Services, a Christian leadership organization dedicated to demonstrating the relevance of Christianity to every area of contemporary life. He has authored three books: Winning the Battle for the Minds of Men, Doing Business God's Way, and The Emperor Has No Clothes, as well as recorded numerous audio and video presentations.

Dennis and his wife, Jan, reside in Santa Rosa, California. They have three adult children and eleven grandchildren.
